

Low-Spoons Mode

For the days that are just... a lot.

You don't need the whole system today. Just this page.

The ONLY things that matter today

Three, at most

1

2

3

Bare-Minimum Self-Care

- ☐ Water
- ☐ One real meal
- ☐ Meds, if that's part of your day
- ☐ Rest or lie down for a bit
- ☐ One message to someone, if you need it

Rest is not falling behind.

Tomorrow's system will still be here when you're ready for it.

Spoon Budget

Spend them on purpose.

Spoon theory, in one line: you start the day with a limited number of “spoons” (units of energy), and everything you do — even small things — costs one. Budget them instead of spending blind.

Today I'm starting with: ○ ○ ○ ○ ○ ○ ○ ○ ○ ○ ○ ○ ○

Circle how many feel true this morning — no wrong number.

Where they're going	List the task, mark the cost
	○	○	○
	○	○	○
	○	○	○
	○	○	○
	○	○	○
	○	○	○
	○	○	○
	○	○	○

Ran out early? That's data, not a failure — it tells you what to protect tomorrow. Left some over? Bank them for something you actually want to do.